Key Takeaways

You can source high-quality pigtail channels in Laos from manufacturers such as Metalloy Piping in Luang Prabang and Watana Wire & Cable Company in Vientiane. Metalloy Piping – Luang Prabang

Metalloy Piping is a leading manufacturer and exporter of channels in Luang Prabang, offering products suitable for construction and electrical applications, including pigtail channels. Their channels are made from high-quality raw materials, are corrosion-resistant, dimensionally accurate, and available in sizes ranging from 75 mm to 400 mm. They provide customized dimensions, competitive pricing, and export services worldwide, making them suitable for both local and international projects (Metalloy Piping) .

Watana Wire & Cable Company (WWCC) – Vientiane

WWCC is a prominent electric wire and cable manufacturer in Laos with nearly 20 years of experience. While primarily focused on wires and cables, they also supply supporting components for electrical installations, which may include pigtail channels or related mounting solutions. They emphasize quality control, use premium materials like copper, aluminum, and cable-grade PVC, and offer delivery services within Laos. WWCC is accredited with ISO, IEC, and BS standards, ensuring reliable product quality (WWCC) .

Additional Considerations

- Customization: Both Metalloy Piping and WWCC can accommodate specific size or material requirements for pigtail channels.
- Export: Metalloy Piping explicitly offers international shipping, while WWCC primarily serves the Laos market but may handle larger orders upon request.
- Contact: For Metalloy Piping, inquiries can be made via their website for quotes and delivery options. For WWCC, contact numbers are (+856-20) 5531 3131, 5888 9000, 2888 9000, with payment options including bank transfer or cash on delivery (WWCC). By reaching out to these manufacturers, you can obtain high-quality pigtail channels tailored to your project needs, whether for local installation or export.
