Key Takeaways

Leading cold aisle containment cabinet brands in Switzerland include Minkels, Tate, Panduit, and Modulan, offering modular, energy-efficient solutions for high-density data centers.

Key Brands and Solutions

Minkels is a global supplier of high-quality cabinets and aisle containment systems, known for airtight Nexpan cabinets that optimize airflow and energy efficiency. Their modular solutions allow customization for blade servers, switches, patch panels, and storage equipment, with multiple door types, cable management, and airflow accessories pre-assembled to save installation time .

Tate Global provides Cold Aisle Containment (CAC) systems that capture cold air from CRAH or CRAC units via underfloor plenums. Their solutions feature pre-assembled frames, airtight gaskets, ergonomic handles, and customizable panels in clear or multiwall polycarbonate. Tate emphasizes energy efficiency, adaptability, and quick installation, suitable for air, liquid, or hybrid-cooled environments .

Panduit offers aisle containment systems with adjustable vertical walls, dual sliding doors, and integral roofs to prevent hot and cold air mixing. Their solutions are designed to maintain optimal temperature control, improve energy efficiency, and provide structural support for partially populated rows or U-shaped configurations .

Modulan, a brand of Legrand, specializes in retrofit aisle containment for cabinets from various suppliers. They provide custom aluminum frames and adjustable top covers, allowing containment without purchasing new cabinets. Modulan emphasizes versatility, security, and precise 3D modeling to ensure alignment with existing infrastructure .

Swiss Market Context

Switzerland's CAC market is highly developed due to high energy costs, strict environmental regulations, and dense computing requirements. Cold aisle containment is standard in new builds and retrofits, with solutions ranging from hard-sided enclosures with doors and roofs to flexible curtain-based or hybrid models. Major data center clusters are located in Zurich, Geneva, Basel, and Lucerne, influencing supply chains and service networks .

Considerations for Selection

When choosing a cold aisle cabinet brand in Switzerland, consider:

- Energy efficiency and PUE optimization
- Modularity and compatibility with existing racks
- Ease of installation and maintenance
- Integration with DCIM and BMS platforms
- Compliance with Swiss building and energy codes

These brands provide a range of solutions to meet the high reliability and lifecycle value expectations of Swiss data centers, particularly in sectors like finance, pharmaceuticals, and international organizations.
